The second evening entertainment of the reason was given at the Woman's Ciub on Monday evening, when Dr. Edward Howard Griggs delivered one of the most intellectual and masterful dis-courses ever heard in the city. He spoke on Goethe's Faust—the Faust Problem and Spirla of Modern Culture, and for two hours held spellbound the vast audience of men and women that filled to overflowing the and torium and drawingroom. He showed great mastery of his subject, and brought out the deep human meaning—the war of the forces of good and evil in human life depicted in Faust. The speaker was most gracefully intro-duced by Mrs. Arthur J. Lefroy. After the lecture tea was served by Mrs. John S. Munce, Mrs. T. William

To the average man it is always a source of satisfaction to have his opin-ions indorsed by competent authority, and to those who demand the critical approval of Europe in matters musical before accepting taem, the success achieved by Sousa and his band during their foreign tour will justify an acknowledgment of the artistic merits of the Sousa concerts, the artistic merits of the Sousa concerts, in addition to their always admitted popular aspects. The collection of press criticisms of the Sousa European tour are bestond question the most remarkable series of complimentary comments ever Troked by an American organization. These favorable notices were not confined to any particular city or country, but embraced all of the thirty-five different communities in which Sousa played in France, Germany, Belguim and Holland. In Liege, Belguim, La Gazette said of

Their musical execution is distinguished by a correctness, an ensemble, and irre-proachable precision as well as by a di-versity of tone which is altogether excepbional and of which they make use with striking skill. The wood instruments have ideal purity and refinement; the brass have suberb strength. In the performance of the many numbers on the programme it was possible to appreciate how the players under the dominating impulse-firm and certain—r! their young leader. observe the most minute graduations and the harmonic fusion of the instruments. Tannhauser violin passages were negotiated with such extraordinary agility by the clarinets that it seemed as if such might have been Wagner's intent.

It is the same band that won such unstinted praise that Mr. Sousa will pre-sent here at his concert at the Academy to-morrow night. The personnel of the organization varies but little, and the constant playing under the effective discip-line maintained by Mr. Sousa insures the completeness of the ensemble that has been so much admired. The supporting soloists will be Bertha Bucklin, violiniste, and Blanche Duffield, soprano. The new Sousa march-"Hail to the Spirit of Liberty"-will be a feature of the pro-OTIS SKINNER.

Mr. Otis Skinner will come to the Acad-emy next Friday for an engagement of two mights and a matinee, in his new play "Prince Otto," which scored such an emphatic success in New York during its engagement there at Wallack's Theatre. The adaptation is the work of Mr. Skin-ner himself, and, while he is said to have been forced to discard much of the ma-terial furnished by Mr. Stevenson, the author of the novel from which the play has been taken, it is stated that he has retained the more important and dramatic episodes of the story as well as the charming atmosphere with which Mr. Stevenson surrounded the children of his fancy. This is by no means the first attempt which Mr. Skinner has made in the field of adaptation, for he has already produced several plays done by himself In this play he has developed the love in-terest almost as quickly as the curtain rises. morrow night, is a glittering kaleide of vaudeville gems, embracing artists from the large American cities as well as the European Continent. Music will play a prominent part in this week's bill and several real novelties are promised Of the seven acts on the programme only one has been seen here.

For genuine farce comedy work, John C. Rice and Sally Cohen are well-known in all the large cities and circuits. Their skit is a 20-minute affair full of refreshing wit and good singing, while the costumes worn by Miss Cohen are magnificent productions of the tailor's art.

Francelli and Lewis are known as the nightingale and the lark of vaudeville. They have performed in grand opera in Berlin, but the demand for them in vaud ville was such that, with a high salary inducement, they consented to appear in America this season. These performers also display a wardrobe of much splen-

Irish teams come and go, but McCale and Daniels, the leading exponents of wit in their line, have been metropolitan favorites for several years. This is their first Southern tour, and they count upon being successful where others failed. The real novelty of the bill will prove The real novelty of the bill will prove to be Mme. T. P. A. COURSE.

Mon. Geo. R. Wendling will deliver his latest and, it is said, best lecture, "Mirabeau and the French Levolution," at the Academy Tuesday night. This will be the fourth lecture of the Travelers' Protective Association Lecture Course. Mr. Wendling will be introduced to his Mr. Wendling will be introduced to his audience by the Rev. Jas. B. Hawhorne, Mr. Wendling has, for several years, been looked upon as the peer of any living platform orator, and his appearance next Tuesday night with a new lecture will doubtless attract a very large audience. Some seats, exclusive of the course tickets already sold, are to be had and the same may be secured at the door next Tuesday night.

RONEY'S BOYS AT Y. M. C. A.
The appearance of Blatchford Kavanagh and "Roney's Boys" at the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow night will be a great treat for lovers of music and of intense interest to those who are attracted by the novelty of those who are attracted by the novelry of things. The company is having a magni-ficent tour, and from the far West to the lower South is being most cordially re-ceived and appreciated. Prof. Roney is known the country over, having an ex-cellent concert reputation in more than thirty States; in Michigan alone he has given one hundred and riffy-six concerts given one hundred and fifty-six concerts in the last few years. Kavanagh and 'Roney's Boys''-well, they simply created intense enthusiam during their visit here last year; the applause was instantaneous and continuous, and they captured the hearts of the citizens present. The pro-gramme will be both popular and classical, the boys appearing in Louis XV., pa-triotic and college costume.

Miss Adelaide Fitzallen, who was the leading lady of the Giffen Stock Company at the Academy last summer, has scored a great success as the Duches of Portsmouth, in Henrietta Crossman's production of "Mistress Nell."
